Father and Son Banquet Feb. 25

CORP. COYKENDALL OF MICHIGAN STATE POLICE TO BE HERE FOR RETURN ENGAGEMENT

The Father and Son Banquet date has been set for Wednesday, February 25th., at 6:30, as usual the High School Gymnasium will be used for the dinner.

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid will have charge of the dinner this year and are planning on serving roast beef and salmon loaf with all the trimmings.

The program has been arranged to include The Besser Male Chorus, of Alpena, which consists of forty men and comes to us highly recommended.

Numbers requested for a return of Corp. Coykendall of the State Police, whose demonstration of how to handle firearms was very much enjoyed by us a few years ago, caused us to engage his program again.

Tickets are obtainable from any Rotarian and will be limited to the capacity of the Gymasium. Get yours early, as every indication is that they will be a sellout. Cost per ticket is $2.00 which includes Father and Son.

Minstrel Show No "Colored Problem"; A Community Project

Now that all our Rotarian friends have finally scoured most of the burnt cork off their faces and the "Original and Unique Rendition of an Authentic Southern Minstrel Show" is now a matter of hilarious record, the community can settle down again to the more mundane business of bowling, fishing, eating. and thawing out the water pipes.

As anyone of the hundreds who attended the show can testify. . . it was a performance 'out of this world' and even the Rotarians themselves were frequently surprised. The high-jinks, the gags, the singing — all contributed to the carnival spirit that permeated the entire proceedings, with both the cast and the audience entering into the fun. It was a great show and one that we hope will be repeated in the future.

The Rotary Club wishes to thank everyone connected with the affair for their fine cooperation and unselfish help, the advertisers for their generous support and the non-Rotarian "Artists" whose special talents contributed so much to the show's success. Although originally a Rotarian show, such wholehearted participation made the event a truly community project and one that was enjoyed, and will benefit, us all.

Jasmine Rebekah Lodge

The Jasmine Rebekah Lodge has been enjoying a fine membership attendance. In spite of the cold weather and snow, 42 members were present at the last meeting, Feb., 4, at which time Effie Weldy was installed as Recording Sec'y., and Rose Kortang, Musician; Alberta Nowland acting as installing officer assisted by Lula Clark as Duputy Marshell.

Next meeting will be Feb. 18, 8 o'clock. Come.

We've heard that worry is the interest paid on trouble before it's due.

Experts Admire Best Michigan Eggs

Fire Prevention To Be Observed

DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY EAST JORDAN ORGANIZATIONS.

East Jordan will shortly join the growing list of cities who have decided it was time to do something about the alarming fire losses currently so prevelant throughout the country.

Headed by E. J. Fire Department and jointly sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club and the American Legion this program will include a "Fire Prevention and Inspection Day". Out-of-town agencies will take an active part in the "Day" with the State Fire Marshalls Department, the Underwriters Inspection Bureau, the State Police and specialists from a number of casualty companies participating. Tentative plans call for the inspection of all commercial buildings comprising East Jordans business section by inspection squads composed of the above experts and representatives of our own Fire Department. Each of these squads will also be accompanied by a delegation of Boy Scouts who will gain much "know how" from this unusual experience.

A highlight of the Day will be the grand banquet in the evening with all participating organizations and business men in attendance and a nationally known "fireman" as the principal speaker and guest of honor. This program is of the utmost importance to our community and will require the enthusiastic support of each of us individually . . . and it will pay tremendous dividends if just a few of the 830,000 fires that occur annually in the U. S. are prevented.

GIVE THIS PROGRAM YOUR SUPPORT.

Measles On The Increase In Southern Michigan

Measles has reached the thousand new cases a week mark in the state, Dr. F. S. Leeder, Director of the Bureau of Disease Control, Michigan Department of Health said today.

The epidemic in the state which started three months ago in Kalamazoo city and county has subsided in that area but has spread into the surrounding counties and is flanging into areas adjacent to them. The counties hit hardest by the disease at the present time are Berrien, Kent, Cass, Ottawa, Calhoun, Barry, Eaton and Ingham.

Across the state, there is increasing incidence of measles in Washtenaw county and the disease is expected to spread from there also.

A total of 1014 cases of measles were reported to the Michigan Department of Health during the week ending January 30. There were 66 cases of measles during the same week last year, and 628 during the week in 1946, an epidemic year.

Dr. Leeder warned parents whose very young preschool children are exposed to the disease to consult a physician at once in order that serum may be given to modify the disease and prevent complications. In babies and in sickly children the disease can be prevented, if the child is taken to the physician on the day of his exposure. The disease is highly communicable and knowledge of the time of exposure is important in either its prevention or modification, he said.

High Potato Yields Come From Careful Growing Practices

Why some farmers get unusually high potato yields is told by D. L. Clanahan, Michigan State college farm crops specialist for the upper peninsula. He says that 25 years of potato growing contests sponsored by MSC's extension service has provided these important facts about potato growing:

During the first 12 years, an average of 25 growers qualified annually for the "300 bushel award." During the last 13 years, an average of 127 growers qualified for the high honor.

In 1924 a Manistee county grower, E. Parmlee became the first producer of a crop averaging more than 500 bushels to the acre. Such yields are now common. Yields of 600 and 700 bushels are among the top, anr last year, Frank Falkies, Delta county, produced nearly 800 bushels to the acre.

Contest entrants consistently produce three to four times greater average yields than the average Michigan potato farmer.

Nearly 85 per cent of the contestants have used certified seed.

Preparation of the soil is an essential factor in success.

High yields usually come from crops planted on soil which had alfalfa, clover or grass sod turned under. Commercial fertilizer increased yields greatly.

Proper and adequate spraying throughout the season seems essential for high yields.

Although the number of Michigan farmers raising potatoes has shown a marked decrease, those specializing in the business have increased acreage and yields an acre in recent years.

New Stamp for The Collectors

STATE TO ISSUE SAME TO LICENSED FISHERMAN.

Stamp collectors across the nation next month will have an opportunity to buy what is believed to be the first stamp ever issued by a state to license fishermen. The conservation department promises stocks of the 1948 $1 trout stamp will be in the hands of license dealers by March 15.

The new stamps are the size of a special delivery postage stamp, engraved in green after a brook trout design by conservation department illustrator Charles Schafer. Collectors may obtain them singly or in sheets of 20 that are four stamps high, five across.

Fishermen, both resident and nonresident, taking any brook, brown or rainbow trout in 1948 will need the trout stamp pasted on their regular $1.50, $2 or $3 fishing licenses. The special license for trout fishing was voted by the 1947 session of the Legislature, which also earmarked this income for propagation of trout and planting trout in trout streams.

Aside from sales to stamp collectors, which are expected to be substantial, the truot stamp issue will give the first reliable index in years to the true number of Michigan's trout fishermen. When special trout licenses were required from 1928 through 1932, the number issued varied from 44,000 to 80,000. In recent years the number of Michigan's trout fishermen has been estimated as high as 200,000. The current stamp issue of 600,000 is belived an abundant supply for the state's 3,200 license dealers.

Wives of licensed resident anglers, who have fished free on their husbands' licenses, may also fish trout free on their husbands' trout stamps. An endorsement on the wife's free license stub may be made when the husband buys a trout stamp for his license.

4-H CLUB news

ANTRIM 7th and 8th GRADERS STUDY CONSERVATION

Seventh and eight Graders of Alba, Mancelona, Bellaire, Central Lake, Ellsworth, Eastport, Elk Rapids and Woodlawn schools were contacted the past week and a demonstration of the loss of top soil by Wind erosion was illustrated to the groups.

The Program is a 4-H Club project in cooperation with the Soil Conservation District to give an understanding to the School children of that age the importance of soil conservation in our lives. "Nations rise and fall due to fertility of the soil." The soil of our own U. S. has been decreasing in fertility too rapidly the past 100 years.

Mr. Orville Walker 4-H Club leader suggested to the teachers that they cooperate if willing to carry on a 4-H Club Project in Soil Conservation in their classes. This is a subject that touches the lives of city, village and rural people.

Plans are made to follow up with these school grops, two more meetings and at 4-H Spring Achievement Day to have these groups display Soil Conservation Exhibits.

The Trestleboard

DID YOU KNOW that George Washington, whose birthday we celebrate this month, was a noted Mason? It is common knowledge that the craft played an important role in the winning of the Revolutionary War. Their chief assignment was combating the activities of the traitorous Torries. In his memoirs Washington gives unstinted praise to the accomplishments of the fraternity during this trying period.

A reception for the Grand Marshall in particular and the state officers of the OES in general, will be held in Harbor Springs, Wednesday, Feb. 18. The degree work will be exemplified by the grand officers. All members of the local OES are invited to attend. For transportation arrangements call Mrs. Carlton Bowen, phone 135-F2.

Tonight (Thursday, Feb. 12) is the get-together for Stars and Masons. W. E. Pengelly, traveling passenger agent for the Greyhound bus company, will be the speaker. His lecture will be in the nature of a travelogue and should be most interesting. Don't miss it. The place — the lodge hall. The time — 8:00 o'clock.

The regular monthly communication of the lodge was held last Tuesday night as per schedule. In spite of the sub-zero weather it was well attended. Following the meeting the trustees of the building association held a business session.

It is a fact that the merits of any organization are judged by the behavior of its membership. With this in mind let us cultivate and practice the teachings of our fraternity and conduct ourselves as is befitting men and Masons.

K. DRESSEL, Rep.

Farmers have long known that you can't have prosperity on the farm without having prosperity in the city.

We are inter-dependent upon each other in an economic way.

We're all in the same boat together.

One of the greatest economic mistakes we have made is the fallacious belief, as evidence from time to time, that we can isolate one group against the other, that what happens to one group does not affect the others. This kind of economic isolationism has prompted some people, with best sincere intentions, to declare that we should ignore Europe and the rest of the world. "Mind our own business, and let other nations mind theirs."

Whether we have a Marshell plan and whether we spend billions or no billions for aid of Western Europe is not the theme of this column. We're going to leave that to you and to Congress.

Part of today's inflation is due to the inflationary effects of the Marshell plan whereby we agree to buy American-made goods and ship them abroad.

Sumner H. Slichter, Harvard university's economic expert, doesn't foresee a serious let-down in business during 1948. Recently he said:

We are going to make our problem somewhat more difficult by a third round of wage increases. The people who will profit most are those who profited from the first two rounds. namely, the farmers. One reason why people are willing to pay such surprising prices for meat is that we have three million more people working than anyone expected would be the case at this stage of the postwar era. But they are not producing meat. They are not working in that part of the economy.

"The consumer goods industries will profit from a third round of wage increases temporarily. Their payrolls will go up. Sales go up by the amount of the payroll increases in the consumer goods industries, plus the amount of payroll increases in the capital goods industries, minus the amount saved or taken in taxes. Not a very large part seems likely to go into savings. Consequently, the consumer goods industries will profit to an extent, by a third round of wage increases. Capital goods industries probably will about break even. The workers will come out a little behind as they did after the first two rounds. Stockholders probably will come out behind because there will be new demands to be met and corporations are not likely to disburse all profit gains in the form fo higher dividends.

"Fortunately, we are in a strong position in several respects and may remain strong. Inventories are low. I believe they will continue to remain low. Keeping them that way is one of the most important contributions that businessmen can make toward achieving a smooth transition from the present state of affairs to a more normal one. "The needs of consumers and of business are very large. I think they will remain so even when the difficult adjustments in agricultural prices and in the export surplus take place. The question is whether those two adjustments will occur early enough. The earlier they come the better."

Who will benefit most by higher wages in the cities?

According to Professor Slichter, the farmers will!

As we said before, we're all in the same boat. We must be our brother's keeper.

FUR IN FABRICS ADD WARMTH TO CLOTHING

When you put on a camel's hair coat, a cashmere sweater and a pair of angora mittens, you are wearing fur. Your coat is a special blend of wool and the fur of the two-humped camel, your sweater a blend of cashmere goat's hair and wool, and your mittens are made of wool and angora rabbit fur.

These and other specialty fibers have the advantage of adding warmth without adding weight reports Evelyn Mansfield, clothing specialist at Michigan State College. They also have a softness and luster not found in unblended wool.

Whether you want to pay the additional cost for these blended fibers will depend on the use you plan for the garment. If you want something utilitarian, the luxury of fur fabrics is not necessary. You can pay as much as $1,000 for a coat of the rare vicuna fur blend—the softest in the world.

Fur from the alpaca, a member of the camel family, blended into yarn will give rich luster to a garment. Mohair, the fur of the angora goat, is noted for its strength and luster and you will find it in tropical worsteds as well as carpeting and upholstery. Many of our soft felt hats contain the fur of the rabbit or jackrabbit which adds softness and luster. Beaver and muskrat are used in the more expensive hats.

Even ermine, mink, marten and sable are found in fabrics—with the accent on luxury. Fox, nutria, opossum and raccoon also contribute to the fur fabric industry. Separating the tiny hairs of the fur from the skins and blending them with wool in yarns is an industry that is opening up all kinds of exciting new fabric possibilities. We need to read the lables on these fabrics and determine whether we want to pay for their luxury.

Benadryl Gives Prompt Aid to Hives Sufferer

Benadryl, a drug which inhibits the action of histamine, a poison released by the tissues in allergic reactions, is highly effective in the treatment of certain diseases of the skin, such as hives, Mayo clinic physicians reported by American Medical association.

Mayo physicians prescribed benadryl to be taken by mouth every three to four hours for patients who had acute hives. The majority were completely relieved in from one to two days.

The physicians state that when benadryl is administered relief from the intense itching usually occurs in 20 to 60 minutes, with reduction of the swelling in from two to six hours. However, relief is obtained only while the drug is being used.

Another group of 75 patients with chronic hives, which may last for many years, were treated with the drug with the following results: 48 were entirely relieved while they were taking benadryl, 17 were partially relieved and 10 obtained no benefit.

There have been a great number and variety of treatments tried but no single one has been of consistent benefit to patients who have hives chronically. The physicians reported that benadryl has given striking relief to most of the patients who may be wholly or partially incapacitated because of intense itching, insomnia and disfigurement.

Texas Soon May Become Silk Capital of World

The combination of an idea and a machine may move the world's silk center from the Far East to Mineral Wells, Tex. The idea came from the invention of a machine by Gustaf Beckman.

The machine is an electronic reeling machine which does the job so economically that American labor can spin more and cheaper silk off cocoons in a few hours than several Japanese can spin in days. The Texas industry will be able to turn out an estimated 100,000 pounds of raw silk yearly.

In order to raise cocoons it is necessary to have mulberry trees. It has been proven that the mulberry trees will grow profitably in Texas. Texans now say that they will drive Japan out of the world silk markets the way Japan drove out previous competitors—by offering silk at lower prices.

Silk also can be produced in California. A survey by University of California reveals that the climate of California is even more favorable to silk production than that of Japan. California could raise three crops a year—contrasted with Japan's one, and California silk is said to be of better quality.

Find Old Temples

Eleven heretofore unknown Mayan temples, regarded by scientists as comprising the most important American archeological event of recent years, have been discovered by an expedition sponsored by United Fruit company, authorized by the Mexican government and supervised by Carnegie institution of Washington.

These temples, believed to have been built between 495 and 672 A.D., were found in the ancient Mayan stronghold of Bonampak in the remote lower Mexican frontier region of Chiapas.

The discovery resulting from the Bonampak explorations provides a new key to understanding and appraising one of the greatest of Western hemisphere civilizations. The 11 temples, all of which are sufficiently well preserved for archeological appraisal, clearly indicate the magnificent architectural and cultural attainments of the early pre-Columbian American Indian empire, whose civilization compares favorably in many respects to the period of Greece's Golden Age.

Phones on Power Lines

The last census showed that 1,385,000 farms had electricity but no telephones, whereas there were only 464,000 farms which had telephones but no power. The rural electrification administration is helping to make possible the extension of telephone and electric service into more rural areas by working out a contract arrangement whereby joint use of poles will be approved. Approval of these contracts does not in itself assure telephone service, but is a start toward extending both telephone and electric service to many rural families that are not now being served. Tests still are being conducted to use power lines for telephone carriers.

Clocks Off the Years

A clock made about 1880 is still ticking away at Spartanburg, S. C., keeping time, charting movements of the moon and sun and telling the days and months. The four-faced clock is the creation of Daniel Davis, who used crude tools to cut its wheels, gears and cabinet in his small cabin in the North Carolina mountains. One face records the 24-hour progress of the sun. Another charts the course and phases of the moon. A third tells the day and month, even allowing for the extra leap year day. The fourth face performs a clock's ordinary timekeeping duty.

Farm Topics

BOYNE ARTIFICIAL BREEDERS:

Two more farmers joined the Boyne City Artificial Breeders Association during the month of January. These were; Ora Peck, and Frank A. Behling. Curtis Nicloy, Inseminator Manager, made 40 calls during the past month, 23 of these were first services, 12 second services, and 5 were third services. This time of the year there has always been a lull in this sort of program. The peak usually is reached around the month of June.

POTATO KING'S GROWING METHODS:

If you're interested in the potato growing methods used by Frank Falkies, new potato king who was crowned at Michigan State College during Farmers' Week, here they are:

Starting with the summer of 1946, a crop of alfalfa hay was plowed under for green manure. The soil was tilled until September when rye was planted and an application of 500 pounds of phosphate fertilizer an acre applied. In the spring of 1947, the rye was worked into the soil along with 12 tons of barnyard manure an acre. The potatoes were planted May 20, at which time 1,000 pounds an acre of 3-9-18 fertilizer was applied in the row. The rows were spaced 30 inches apart and the hills nine inches apart. Falkies produced 795 bushels of certified Russet Rural seed potatoes an acre on the acre plot — that's enough spuds to feed almost 5,000 people for one year.

NEW LUMBER FOLDER:

A new folder issued by the Michigan State College Extension Service will be of help to people who use home-grown lumber. The title is, "Seasoning Home-Grown Lumber" and it gives helpful tips on drying, piling, and handling this type of lumber.

If you're planning to cut a supply of lumber. you'll want the bulletin. Ask for Extension folder F-114, "Seasoning Home-Grown Lumber." It's obtainable from your County Agricultural Agents' Office.

RAT CONTROL:

Nation-wide estimates indicate that 1,600,000 rats now live on Michigan farms. This is threat to stored feeds, livestock, and poultry. Extension specialists at Michigan State College list these measures to help conrol rats:

Clean up all junk, trash, boards, posts, tin cans, and other refuse in and around buildings.

Pre-bait heavily for several days by placing unpoisoned bait in and around all rat-infested buildings. Use meat, fish, or fresh vegetables.

Poison baits by mixing with autu or red squill. Follow instructions on the package carefully. Burn or bury uneaten poison bait and dead rats.

Follow up about a week later with another bait and poison. Also try trapping, gassing with a car exhaust, shooting, drowning, or clubbing if occasion warrants.

Rat-proof buildings, granaries and corn cribs by blocking holes, tin-lining doors and granaries, concrete foundations and floors; use hardware cloth in corn cribs and granary floors.

Ed Rebman, County Agr'l Agent.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Gandhi's Death Leaves India Bitter; House Prepares Tax Slash Debate, GOP Leaders Confident of Victory;

Released by WNU Features

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

DEATH: Gandhi

Mohandas K. Gandhi, India's champion, peacemaker, patient saint, was dead at the age of 78—a victim of an assassin's bullets.

He died barely two weeks after Hindus, Sikhs and Moslems alike, overjoyed at the possibility of peace that Gandhi's latest fast had procured for their dominions, were shouting "Gandhiji ki jai" (long live Gandhi) in the streets of Delhi.

It was a violent ending for the mahatma who all his life had preached and practised a philosophy based on an abhorrence of violence. A Hindu from Poona approached him during a prayer meeting and fired three shots into his body from close range.

To India and to India's Hindus to whom Gandhi had devoted his life, his death was a bitter experience and a shock that left the already turbulent sub-continent in an even more complete state of turmoil.

After the partition of the country into the dominions of India and Pakistan Gandhi had been the man of strong spirit to whom all three opposing factions, Hindus, Moslems and Sikhs, had looked for guidance.

And in his last fast, of five-day duration, he had given it to them. He had provided the three clashing religious groups with a foundation for peace. His action had tended to narrow the schism between Moslems and Hindus, had lessened the talk of war.

Whether his death would undo the good that the last days of his life had accomplished remained, for the time being, an open question.

TAX SLASH: Debatable

All signs pointed to an income tax cut of one kind or another this year as the house of representatives clanged the bell for the opening round of crucial, election-year debate on that much-belabored issue.

Joseph Martin (Rep., Mass.), speaker of the house, started things off with the assertion that an income tax slash is in the bag. He conceded, however, that it might not run as high as the 6.5 billion dollars provided in the Knutson bill, now up for debate.

But in the end, he said, the Republican congress would override a presidential veto "of the tax bill we send to the White House."

In order to beat the veto that Mr. Truman might slap on the tax bill, however, the Republicans would have to line up a few Democrats to vote on their side to make the necessary two-thirds majority. And to bring enough Democrats around, it was thought, the senate Republicans would tone down the bill.

Rep. Robert Doughton (Dem., N. C.), ranking Democrat on the tax-fixing ways and means committee, pointed out the obvious fact that Republicans would have to trim the size of the cut to get anywhere. Otherwise, he said, congress will uphold the veto "and we will have no tax reduction at all."

As far as Knutson's 6.5-billion-dollar measure is concerned, GOP congressmen were touting it on the grounds that it would spur business, increase production and relieve the price-pressure on taxpayers in addition to leaving the government enough revenue for an 11-billion-dollar payment on the public debt in the next two years.

Democrats, of course, take the diametrically opposed view, holding that a tax slash that big would force the government to borrow money, threaten national security and hinder the European recovery plan upon which so much of the current phase of U. S. foreign policy is founded.

HEADLINERS

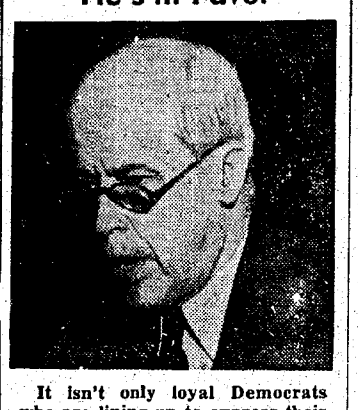

IN LOS ANGELES . . . Film actor Allen Jenkins (above) booked on suspicion of drunken driving, maintained that his cat, Smiley, was doing the driving, stoutly asserted, "I just went along for the ride."

IN MEMPHIS . . . Henry K. Buck, railway terminal superintendent who donated free cinders to the city to neutralize icy streets, was fined $306 for making too much smoke.

IN GREEN COVE SPRINGS, Fla. . . . G. B. Mobley, who sank a 30-foot shaft through the town's main street in search of four million dollars in pirate gold, stopped digging, sifted for gold dust.

IN CLEVELAND . . . Mrs. Adelyn M. Schwetz complained in a divorce petition that her husband, a shoe store proprietor, made her pay cash for her shoes.

He's in Favor

It isn't only loyal Democrats who are lining up to express their views in favor of the Marshall plan. Norman Thomas, perennial U. S. Socialist leader, also endorsed the scheme in his testimony before the senate foreign relations committee. Then, in a biting statement, he added that he did not like: (a) commodity speculators, (b) Herbert Hoover, (c) Henry Wallace and (d) the Truman doctrine.

NO BLOC: 'No Need'

When Moscow's official Communist party newspaper, Pravda, declared editorially that it was opposed to any federation of eastern European states it signalled the disclosure of an interesting development in Russia's relationship with her Balkan satellites.

The idea of such a federation, similar to the union of Western Europe proposed by Britain's Bevin, was put forth by Georgi Dimitrov, Communist premier of Bulgaria and endorsed by Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia.

Dimitrov said that the eastern European nations in the Soviet orbit intend to form a federation of states as allies to Russia when the time is ripe, but first, he added, they would organize a customs union. Prospective members were to be: Bulgaria, Albania, Romania, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia "and even Greece."

But Pravda answered with an emphatic "no." And Pravda's rejection of the idea meant that Stalin himself (who founded the paper) was administering a public hand-slapping to Dimitrov for thinking of it.

"The editors of Pravda," the statement said, "consider that these countries stand in need of not a problematical and far-fetched federation or confederation, nor do they stand in need of a customs union. What they need is consolidation and defense of their independence and sovereignty by mobilization and organization of internal popular democratic forces."

That meant simply that Stalin and his politburo did not want the Balkan nations ganging up, even as ostensible Russian allies. The Soviet regime is perfectly content to let the Communist party in each nation control and direct its destinies. With the existence of a federation, the Balkans conceivably might get out of hand.

Pravda's editorial amounted to a reluctant and tacit admission that Russia has found it practicable and worth while to follow Hitler's old formula for international relations: Divide and rule.

ALLOCATIONS: Steel

Tentative answer to some of the nation's most exasperating shortages came into being when the government's voluntary allocations program moved into low gear with a commerce department request that the steel industry guarantee freight car manufacturers enough steel to build 10,000 cars a month.

How much good this would do was, like steel supplies, an unknown quantity.

Present government plans call for concentrating on freight cars, petroleum equipment, farm machinery and building materials. Steel leaders previously had agreed to cooperate in the voluntary program.

Major emphasis for the time being will be on freight cars, but the commerce department also plans to describe other key programs it believes will require steel allocations within the next month.

Many government transportation experts believe the 10,000-a-month freight car goal is inadequate.

KEY HARVESTS: For Inflation

Any crop failure this year would endanger greatly the fight on inflation, and the size of the 1948 and subsequent harvests must be looked to as the "key" in arresting inflationary trends, Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's council of economic advisers said in a Chicago speech.

If there were better than average crop conditions this year, prices would level off, he said.

TRACTOR GAS: Spring Fever

For millions of U. S. families whose homes this winter were ranging from chilly to downright cold, the most pressing problem was how to get enough fuel oil right now, while farmers, at least in the Midwest, were doing their worrying over how to get enough gasoline for their tractors come spring.

That there would be tractor gas shortages in some areas was an agreed fact; and the oil industry was beginning to make preparations to keep farm tractors and food production rolling this spring in the face of a tighter gasoline supply.

Concern over tractor fuel was reported particularly high in the rural Midwest because fuel oil for home heating is being produced at the expense of gasoline.

"We have been reviewing the possibilities closely," said a spokesman for one of the big companies "Gasoline will be tight but not critical, in our judgment. Shortage spots may develop but we don't expect any severe conditions."

More than 90 per cent of commercial farms in the Midwest today are dependent in whole or part on tractors for power. If the gasoline or distillate supply should fail, millions would face starvation. Gasoline and oil demand in agriculture literally doubled between 1941 and 1947.

Farmers already are being warned to conserve gasoline, and National Petroleum council has taken note of the impending spring demand by recommending that refineries switch back from fuel oil to gasoline production within 90 days.

LITTLE MAN And What Now?

To the senate banking and currency committee came a representative of America's beloved "little man" to talk of inflation and ask the question "What now?"

Economists may define an inflationary condition as an excess of demand over supply or a disproportionate amount of money and credit in relation to exchange, but to Cyrus J. Waud of Camden, N. J., inflation simply means that his $50-a-week salary can't take care of his wife and six children.

Waud, a cannery worker, told a story familiar to millions of his cohorts across the nation: The endless, insufferable rise in prices; the hand-to-mouth struggle to keep even with the implacable economic circumstances which gradually were beating him down.

WAUD AND FAMILY
'We're not living . . .'

With the dispassionate bitterness of a good U. S. citizen who knows that it is within his rights but not within his power to have economic freedom and comfort for his family and himself, Waud summed it all up in the 1948 "little man's" tragic cliche:

"We're not living, we're only existing."

FARM FAMILY: Changing

Mr. American Farmer is not in a class by himself; he is subjected to the same influences as his city cousin and is tending to become more like his urban relative, two sociologists have disclosed.

When he acquires a college education, a higher income and culture, he has fewer children. And paved highways, radios, movies and push-button agriculture are making farmers more like city dwellers, including the tendency to smaller families.

George W. Hill and Douglas G. Marshall, University of Wisconsin and University of Minnesota sociologists, arrived at those conclusions recently reported in the Journal of Farm Economics after studies of selected counties in Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and New York.

"Farm families who should be the most able to provide their children with social and economic advantages are the very ones who are having the fewest, if any children," Hill and Marshall said.

"The trend in farm family fertility is stark evidence that farm people are just as ready and willing to accept new 'social' ideas, ideas that are influencing their biological behavior."

Germ 'Flypaper'

One of the latest developments in this century of scientific whing dings is a bacterial flypaper to keep rooms freer of disease germs.

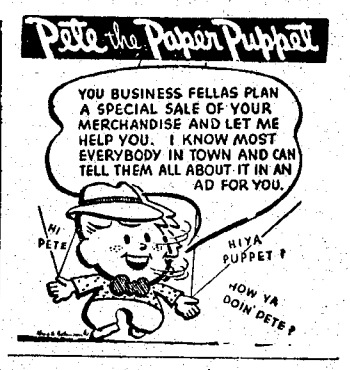

It is a chemical that can be put on floors, blankets or curtains to catch and hold tiny organisms, including those which cause colds, when they settle out of the air. Unlike flypaper, it doesn't kill, but it does keep germs from circulating around the room.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Will's Proud of His Big Ears

Will Dudley's mighty proud of his big ears! Best crop of corn he's grown since '38. And Will, like so many other farmers, has plenty of reason to be proud of what he raises.

The farmer has always been a keystone in our economic life, and the key to our national well-being. But from where I sit, he's more important now than ever. He's not only feeding America—but friends of America overseas—building good will for this country at a time when friendship for democracy is most important.

And farmers have willingly shouldered that responsibility. Will spends extra hours in his cornfield ... comes home tired to a temperate glass of beer and early bed, to be ready for the next day's work.

From where I sit, America can be mighty grateful for her five million farmers ... for their productivity, hard work, and temperate living—of which Will's moderate glass of beer is proof!

Power of Holy Spirit
Lesson for February 15, 1948

TWO decades ago, the famous preacher, Rev. Reginald J. Campbell, declared, "The 18th Century may be characterized as the Century of God the Father; the 19th Century as the Century of God the Son; and we are praying that the 20th Century may be experienced as the Century of the Holy Spirit." That was a brave and hopeful prayer. May we claim the same hope.

Dr. Newton

"These things have I spoken unto you, being yet present with you. But the Comforter, which is the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you," John 14:25 and 26. Go on to read Acts 2:1-4; 3:1 to 4:31; Galatians 5: 22-26 and you will have the Scripture passages for Sunday's lesson, with Ephesians 6:10-20 as the devotional reading.

PETER ACTS BRAVELY

IN THE passage in Acts we have the picture of Peter and John about to enter the temple on the Sabbath, when suddenly they find themselves confronted by a sick beggar. What could they do with him and for him? He was asking for money.

Peter said, "Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have give I thee, in the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk!"

The lame man stood up, leaping and walking and rejoicing, and went into the temple with Peter and John. Only the power of God can do such mighty works. Peter was not afraid to tackle the man's needs, since he relied upon God's wisdom and strength.

WHY PETER WAS BRAVE

PETER is often pictured as a very quick-tempered person. He was usually the first to speak in every situation. He was the leader of the group—a natural leader of men. But Peter did not assume to meet the poor man's need in his strength. Only "in the Name of Jesus."

When we forget self and rely upon the Holy Spirit for direction, we are enabled to meet and master any situation. Juniors will do well to remember these words, "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts," Zechariah 4:6.

Junior boys and girls can meet life's tasks in the same assurance in which Peter dealt with the lame man, if we rely upon the Holy Spirit.

SECRET OF CHRISTIAN POWER

"YOU shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you." Acts 1:8. That is the secret of the Christian's power. It does not originate elsewhere. It is God's gift to those who implicitly trust in him.

This great truth is particularly appealing to intermediates and seniors. Young people are keenly sensitive to the times in which they live. We live today in an hour of unprecedented power — atomic energy! But all of the marvels of modern science have not been able to give young people the sense of mastery. Rather, we are afraid. The scientists themselves tell us that this is history's most precarious age.

Only when the Holy Spirit is regnant in our hearts can we possess the power of which Paul is writing in Galatians, when he says, "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance."

WHEN WE HAVE THAT POWER

WHY, then, should we ever be weak, when we may always possess that power? This is the most searching question for any Christian. The answer will lead us to certain inevitable admissions. We become weak spiritually when we forget to pray, when we forget to read God's word, when we allow the interests of this world to blind our eyes and deafen our ears to the reality of God's presence.

The Holy Spirit will dwell within us, if only we will welcome him. He will not come unbidden; he will not remain unwanted. He cannot be made secondary. Either he guides or surrenders the reins to us.

Our lives are spiritually strong and healthy when the Holy Spirit governs. Our work is effective, our words are compelling. We speak not our wisdom, but the wisdom of God. We go not in our strength, but in his strength.

Really Gets Around

"WHAT kind of fellow are you?" she demanded.

"Last night you proposed to me, 10 minutes later you proposed to another girl down the block and 15 minutes later it was a girl on the other side of the street. How could you do such a thing?"

"Easy," he answered cheerfully, "I've got a bicycle."

Strange Place for It

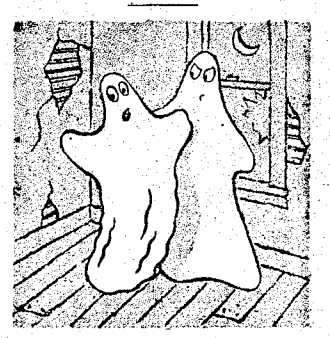

A certain well-loved society woman was recently able to return to her normal activities after a rather lengthy sojourn in a hospital. Her first outing included a brief shopping tour.

"I declare it's good to see you back, Mrs. H. . . . ," said one friendly saleslady. "We heard you were in the hospital. Would you mind telling us what your trouble was?"

"Not at all," replied the cheerful convalescent. "I had a foot taken out of my intestine."

"Gracious goodness!" gasped the astounded saleslady. "How in the world did it get there?"

FROM THEIR VIEWPOINT

Two ghosts heard a noise in the house just after midnight. One of them grabbed frantically at the other and whispered: "Listen! Do you believe in people?"

Missing the Point

He had received a handsome gun for his birthday and wanted to try it out immediately. His neighbor kindly let him have his bird dog for the hunting trip.

On his return the neighbor asked him what luck he had had and was surprised to hear that the dog was no good for hunting.

"Why,' said the amateur hunter, "every time we would come across some birds that darned dog would stiffen himself, tail straight out and head up, so I hit him over the head with the butt of my gun. I wasn't going to put up with such foolishness."

Very Healthy Place

The old gentleman had just arrived at the hotel and was pestering the reception clerk with all sorts of questions.

"Are you sure this is a healthy spot?" he asked anxiously.

"Healthy," echoed the clerk, smiling. "I should say it is! Why, a few weeks ago an old fellow came here in a wheelchair, and after staying a month, he ran away without paying his bill!"

BRUTAL REPLY

"Are you the great animal painter?"

"Yes, ma'm, I am. Did you wish to sit for your portrait?"

Man or Mouse?

Conversation at the club turned to the oldest member, Hawkins, who for many years had vainly squirmed under the thumb of a domineering wife—a proud, imperious woman whose lightest whisper was law.

"How long has Hawkins been married?" asked the youngest member.

"Oh," said the wittiest member, "I suppose about 20 awed years."

Very Convincing

Lawyer — Now that we have won the case, will you tell me confidentially if you stole the money?

Client — Before you started to talk I was sure that I did, but after listening to you for a while I'm beginning to think I didn't.

AN APPRECIATION

I want to express my gratitude to the many friends who sent me cards, letters, and gifts, and called in person to see me, during my stay at the Lockwood Hospial, in Petoskey.

LIBRARY HOURS

Afternoons: 2:00 to 5:00 every day except Sundays.

Evenings: 7:00 to 8:30 except Tuesday and Fridays: On those days we will open at 12:00 and close at 5:00 and will not be open in the evenings.

Gifts

We gratefully acknowledge receipt of a $200.00 check from the East Jordan Canning Co. This will enable us to order a few new books and still keep within our budget. Unexpected expenses made it necessary to cut on all items possible. Our recent book lists have not been very well balanced. This is because we have placed few new orders and most of the books received recently are from unfilled back orders.

New Books

China Awake — Payne: This book was written by a young Englishman who has a background that enables him to write interestingly of his subject. He lived the five years previous to writing this book, in China. Before that he lived in Europe, Asia and Africa and so had a good understanding of peoples of other countries and a good ground for comparison. The story is told through pages taken from his diary and is a picture of China as a people rather than an account of politics and military action. This book has received many favorable reviews.

For the Younger Readers

Bird dog bargain — Gilbert: Besides the story there is an appendix which tells how to train dogs.

Planes for beginners — Gilmore: This book gives instructions on how to build models of ten planes. It also contains information on history and principles of flight, and other facts.

U. S. means us — Turner: A book on the workings of the United States government. Simply told and covering only the major points. A splendid basis for later study.

When Washington was young — Murphy: This is written for children a little older than the readers of our other new Washington books.

Fix it, please. Jimmy and Polly were too small to fix things that were broken but Daddy and Mother knew how. Many colorful and delightful illustrations.

assistance has been granteds when the need made such help advisable. Loans were made (without interest) to those able to repay without undue hardship. When severe circumstances merited it, outright grants were made from Red Cross funds.

BLOOD DONOR PROGRAM: Among the outstanding services of the year was the work of compiling a list of 140 volunteer blood donors. This was possible through the cooperation of the Charlevoix County office of Veteran's Affairs, veterans of the County and other interested persons. This list has proven to be of uttmost value. At least 30 donors have responded to the call of the Red Cross for people who needed transfusions of whole blood and were unable to secure a donor from their own families.

THE EMERGENCY RELIEF PROGRAM: Charlevoix County did not suffer from widesprsad disaster during 1947. However, disaster did come to individual families in the form of fire and assident. Death, distruction of property, prolonged hospitalization and disability have resulted. The Red Cross—your instrument of ministry—has always responded to the call of distress in these cases.

THE BLOOD PLASMA CLINIC: The Red Cross, in cooperation with the Michigan State Health Department, conducted a successful clinic in October. The job of registering 150 donors, providing the canteen, advertising, transporting donors and assisting clinic nurses etc., was ably and loyally done by local Red Cross supporters. As a result 65 pints of life saving plasma has been credited to this county. This plasma and its derivitives is supplied free of charge to those who need it. Other clinics will undoubtedly be held in the county. Remember, this is a life saving; life giving service.

JUNIOR RED CROSS: All the public schools of the county were enrolled in the Junior Red Cross program last year. Among other things the Juniors sent 100 gift boxes overseas, provided cribbage and writing boards for Veteran Hospitals and 1000 decorated napkins.

WATER SAFETY: Much work was expended in 1947 to provide a Water Safety program for Charlevoix County. We were disappointed in not being able to provide a greater service in this field, although some service was given. Plans are now being laid to provide such service this summer.

PRODUCTION: Last years production project was the knitting of heavy woolen sweaters for overseas relief. Ladies in the chapter produced and shipped 45 of these excellent sweaters.

ACCIDENT PREVENTION: Twenty eye catching signs lettered in red and black are now ready to be set out along Charlevoix County highways in the interest of safety and accident prevention.

OFFICE SERVICE PROVIDED: The Charlevoix County Chapter joined the ranks of many chapters who now employ a full time executive secretary. This is done in the interest of a broader and more effective program of service to the residents of the chapter. A new office was established during the year. This office which is in Boyne City is in the same building with the Office of Veterans Affairs. This has resulted in a much more effecient service for the veteran because of a finer correlation of effort between the two organizations.

HOME NURSING: As the year closed an extensive survey was conducted throughout the county to determine the interest in a home nursing program. At the present two large classes are receiving home nursing instructions.

IF FIRE BREAKS OUT
Give Your House a Chance!

The natural fireproof qualities of Baldwin-Hill black Rockwool gives the homeowner that chance.

The chance to get the family out, and those priceless valuables that insurance money can never replace. And, as incident after incident has proven, a chance for firemen to get equipment on the scene before the fire gets out of control.

Also, the Fuel Emergency grows more critical each day. Secretary of Interior Krug on Jan. 15th called on the public to reduce gas and fuel consumption 15%. And one of the points Krug stressed was

EXPERIENCE
PROVES THAT....

1. You cannot bring prosperity by discouraging thrift.
2. You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.
3. You cannot help small men by tearing down big men.
4. You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich.
5. You cannot lift the wage-earner by pulling down the wage-payer.
6. You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than your income.
7. You cannot further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatred.
8. You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money.
9. You cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence.
